

Here's a text if you've only a minute ...

God has gone up with shouts of joy;
the Lord goes up with trumpet blast.

Psalm

... that you may know what is the immeasurable greatness of his power towards us who believe.

Second Reading

'Behold, I am with you always, to the end of the age.'

Gospel

Father in heaven,
our minds were prepared for the coming of your kingdom
when you took Christ beyond our sight
so that we might seek him in his glory.
May we follow where he has led and find our hope in his glory,
for he is Lord for ever.

Old Opening Prayer

This week's texts if you want to explore further:
Acts 1: 1–11; Psalm 46 (47); Ephesians 1: 17–23; Matthew 28: 16–20

Drogo Sacramentary, c. 850 (Wikimedia Commons)

As they were looking
on, he was lifted up,
and a cloud took him
out of their sight.

First Reading

If you'd like to receive Prego by email each week, sign up at www.stbeunosoutreach.wordpress.com

ST BEUNO'S OUTREACH IN THE DIOCESE OF WREXHAM

PREGO LEAFLET

The Ascension of the Lord
Year A, 17th May 2026 (USA)

'Go, make disciples of all nations!'

Forty days after the Resurrection, Jesus ascends to heaven. He ascends triumphant to sit at the Father's right hand. For the disciples, their time of formation with him is over. How is their relationship with him altered?

The First Reading from the Acts of the Apostles gives an account of the Ascension. Jesus promises to send his Holy Spirit to be with his disciples, to fill them with his power, so that they can witness to him 'to the ends of the earth.'

The Psalm emphasises Jesus's triumph in his Ascension, and the whole Church sings in praise of the Lord who reigns over all.

The Second Reading also stresses Christ's power. His Father has 'put all things under his feet.' That power is exercised for us, not only in the gifts of his grace, but also in the promise of eternal glories.

Matthew's Gospel account of the Ascension focuses on Jesus's authority and his sending forth of the disciples to witness, baptise and teach. He promises to be with them 'to the end of time.'

This week, we pray that all those who are struggling may find peace, and know God's presence in their heart.

Opening Prayer

Gladden us with holy joys, almighty God,
and make us rejoice with devout thanksgiving,
for the Ascension of Christ your Son is our exaltation,
and, where the Head has gone before in glory,
the Body is called to follow in hope.

Second Reading Ephesians 1: 17–23

Brothers and Sisters: I do not cease to give thanks for you, remembering you in my prayers, that the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give you the Spirit of wisdom and of revelation in the knowledge of him, having the eyes of your hearts enlightened, that you may know what is the hope to which he has called you, what are the riches of his glorious inheritance in the saints, and what is the immeasurable greatness of his power towards us who believe, according to the working of his great might that he worked in Christ when he raised him from the dead and seated him at his right hand in the heavenly places, far above all rule and authority and power and dominion, and above every name that is named, not only in this age but also in the one to come. And he put all things under his feet and gave him as head over all things to the Church, which is his body, the fullness of him who fills all in all.

I come to my place of prayer, and consciously place myself in the loving presence of my God.

I slowly read the text.

Perhaps the first sentence conveys what I desire in my prayer today?

I take the time to sit with this prayer, or with another phrase that has struck me.

I may ask the Father to open my heart and the eyes of my mind to his great mystery.

I consider the Father's power which has raised Jesus from the dead and exalted him above all powers to sit at his right hand.

I rest here as long as I can.

What does this prompt me to speak of to my Lord Jesus Christ?

I reflect on Christ, in power and glory, yet filling creation and all time with his presence. I may be moved to adoration, praise or gratitude ...

I may pray Paul's prayer that others may come to know the glorious hope we are all promised.

I end quietly in praise. Glory be to the Father ...

Gospel Matthew 28: 16–20

At that time: The eleven disciples went to Galilee, to the mountain to which Jesus had directed them. And when they saw him they worshipped him, but some doubted. And Jesus came and said to them, 'All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me. Go, therefore, and make disciples of all nations, baptising them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you. And behold, I am with you always, to the end of the age.'

How do I feel today as I settle to my prayer? I ask the Lord to be with me and to help me pray.

Conscious of his love for me, I receive this Gospel knowing he is speaking to me.

I read the text with reverence and allow it to be real for me. Perhaps I can imagine myself present in the scene as one of the disciples climbing the mountain. How do I wait for Jesus? With eagerness, doubt, fear, apprehension, joy ...?

As Jesus appears, do I fall in adoration before him, or do I hesitate?

Without judgement, I consider my response.

What does it lead me to say to Jesus?

I consider my companions. How is the group altered as we gather around Jesus? Can I relate this to my life?

Where or how do I especially meet him with others?

Does this gospel change my attitude to them?

I listen deeply to his words.

Perhaps I am saddened and unnerved that Jesus is leaving us?

Or am I exhilarated by the commands he is giving us, to make disciples, baptise and teach?

Have I experienced something of his promise to be with us until the end of time?

I speak to the Lord from my heart at length.

I finish my prayer with gratitude, asking the Lord to be always with his Church.